Deity

We call upon the Old Gods, upon the Dark Mother and the Dark Father who preside at this the dark part of the year. May they watch over each and every one of us, may they guard, guide and protect us. Within their care we know that although the days continue to darken the light will yet return to us. And so the Wheel turns.

Tonight we honour our ancestors.

Spirits of our ancestors, we call to you, and we welcome you to join us this night.

Thank you for watching over us and for guiding us.
