Full Moon in Aquarius 23rd July 2021

Full Moon Circle in Aquarius Zoom Event

Summoning the Wind

8pm Friday 23rd July 2021

Full Moon in Aquarius (24/7/21 at 12:36pm) comes with a powerful energy that will assist you to use your thoughts, words, energy, actions to creating enduring peaceful and healing change on this planet. Aquarius, element of Air, Aquarius is the sign of the world server. The goal of Aquarius is group consciousness. The community-conscious Aquarius Full Moon reminds us that we are part of something larger than ourselves, and that acting on our ideas and ideals will benefit everyone. Full Moons spark an increase in activity and energy, and Aquarius is one of the most outgoing signs in the zodiac.

We will be working with the Watcher Chazaqiel who taught humans the knowledge of the clouds and meteorology. On this night we will be summoning the wind to assist in the ending of the pandemic and asking for global peace and harmony. Please bring a piece of string as we will be doing some knot-work as part of our spell work.

Sydney Circle (Zoom online event due to COVID-19 lockdown restrictions)

Introduction – Leo/Aquarius Full Moon Energy - Leo is ruled by the sun, representing illumination and warmth; Aquarius is ruled by Saturn, representing restrictions and frigidity. It's because of these opposing forces that the emotional meaning of the full moon in

Aquarius will be urgently highlighting your need to express your unique individuality and demanding that you seek balance between your need for an ego boost versus your need to be a part of something greater in your community. Since both of these signs are of a fixed modality, there will definitely be some tension here.

What are your truths? This full moon in Aquarius is definitely doubling down on that important question, prompting you to consider what's more important to you: authenticity or avoiding your ego altogether.

Age of Aquarius

For the next 2000 years we will be in the Aquarian Age. We have been in the transition from the Piscean Age to the Aquarian Age for the last 50 years. There is conjecture as to when this begins but some astrologers believe it commenced on 11/11/11. This change to the Aquarian age is so important because it changes the astrological conditions for the entire planet. Every person on planet Earth has been and will be affected by this shift.

We are leaving the Piscean Age which has been dominated by hierarchy, and power. The Aquarian Age will be dominated by networks, and information. The key to the astrological sign Aquarius is "I know." This is the age of information. Nothing is secret anymore. All information is available at your fingertips. Where the Piscean age was organized in a vertical, up and down structure of hierarchies, the Aquarian Age is organized in a horizontal network, opening the world up to true equality.

This Aquarian shift is going to bring out the best and the worst in mankind. Some people are preparing for this shift by opening their hearts and minds and embracing this new age, and some people are intimidated by the changes that they don't understand and want to return to a "golden age" in the past.

Transformation is never a painless process. Now imagine that every person on planet Earth is going through this shift. We are heading into a time of radical change. It is a time of great potential growth and expansion, but it is also a time of great potential pain and suffering. The more that you understand what is happening, the more that you can go through all the changes without losing your balance and stability.

What can you do to help make this transition into this new age of information and consciousness? Here are some suggestions:

1. Have a daily spiritual practice. This can be many different things: yoga, meditation, chanting, prayer, contemplation, exercise, journaling, etc. It is not important what you are doing, but that you do something almost every day, and do it with an intention to let go of your blocks and focus your consciousness.

2. Don't give in to fear, despair, or anger. There is so much happening that can trigger these emotions: the media, the environment, politics, terrorism, etc. If you understand that these emotions are all symptoms of the Aquarian shift, then you can go through them without losing your centre.

3. Don't be a victim. You have the power to change your life. Don't give that power away to anyone through blame or resentment. You are responsible for your happiness and grace. Don't buy into any view of reality in which you are not 100% responsible for making your life work. The Aquarian Age is all about empowerment and consciousness.

4. Be a source of light. The more people who consciously choose to embrace the Aquarian shift, the easier this transformation will go for humanity. It is a spiritual truth that a small percentage of people who have shifted their consciousness can influence the rest of humanity. Find a way to spread your light: teach, heal, create community networks, serve, sacrifice, love.

Below is some additional information on Air Magic from the book “Earth Power: Techniques of Natural Magic” by Scott Cunningham, that we can use in our spellwork for this full moon ritual...

Air Magic

Though air is invisible it is an essential part of life. It is not only necessary for life to continue, it also affects our lives in often dramatic ways. Since it is invisible and yet so powerful it has been used in spells and magic for eons, and it also has found its way through the winds into the folk-lore and mythology of peoples around the world.

The spells and techniques offered here utilize the power of elemental Air, best visualized as a gushing torrent of wind. Many of the spells themselves require a wind or at least a breeze, and spells for wind control are also included.

One point of caution: air magic is as unpredictable as the winds themselves.

The Winds

For centuries peoples have thought of the wind as being of four basic types, corresponding to the four directions or quarters of the Earth. Each is possessed of its own magical virtues, and certain spells are best cast during certain winds.

This may seem to be rather unnecessarily complicated, but it needn't be. Looking to the winds when performing magic is no more difficult than checking the phase of the moon, although the phase of the wind does not last as long.

The four winds are at least superficially related to the elements, and this can be kept in mind, but each has its own powers peculiar to the winds themselves.

One important point. In speaking of, say, the North wind, it is the wind which blows from that direction rather than to the direction that is in question. (The North & South wind have been changed to reflect the southern hemisphere).

South Wind

The South wind is the wind of death but not necessarily that of physical death. This is the realm of the one eternal universal law change. Death here refers to the elimination of negativity. The South wind is cold (magically speaking), blowing in as it does from the direction of winter and of snows lying deep across the lands thus paving the way for spells of destruction.

How to use it? If you are depressed, anxious, envious, jealous, angry, and the wind is blowing from the South, face full into it and it will free you of these things. If you wish to break a bad habit, perform any spell of this nature while the South wind is blowing for added power. The South wind is also the wind of the element earth, and thus shares in fertility and prosperity magic, although that involving healing can be greatly aided by the South wind.

East Wind

The wind blowing from the East is that of freshness, renewed life, strength, power, and intellect. It is a warm, bracing wind that blows from the point at which the sun, moon and stars make their shining appearances. Thus, it is the wind involved with beginnings, the new phenomena that rises from the work of the North wind. The heat is that of the sun, and the spark of creation. Spells best utilized when the wind is sweeping from the East are those concerning dramatic improvements, changes for the better, especially in behaviour. Also, east wind spells are those involving the mind and all spells involving the element of air, to which it is magically related.

North Wind

The north wind is a hot, fiery one. Symbolically it rules noon, when the sun (or moon) is highest in the sky, the time of the greatest light and heat. Because the North wind is related to the element of fire, its magic covers the same ground. The North wind, however, can be used for any type of magic when it's blowing. It's a good time to cast spells. Since this wind is strong and hot, spells performed with it are assured an extra jolt of power. It is always exciting and interesting working with the North wind! Be warned, however, that fire even diluted fire of the North wind can be dangerous. As we know, fire can burn.

West Wind

The West wind is that which blows cool and moist; it may carry a hint of rain or mist as it washes over the land. It is a fertile, loving force which is gentle and persuasive. It symbolically rules twilight, when all is at a standstill; day and night merge into a magical landscape of muted colours and cool breezes. Sunset, like sunrise, is an excellent time to perform magic more so if the correct wind is blowing. Water magic includes love, healing, fertility. West winds excellent for spells involving cleansing or purely religious rituals.

Summoning the powers of the winds and asking for their help is a great way to begin any spell. The technique? If you are performing a spell suited to one wind, just before you begin turn to the appropriate direction and say the words associated with it. Stand for a moment. Feel the wind (if only in your imagination) blowing from that direction, roused by your magical call, gathering in speed as it rushes toward you with awesome force. Then perform the spell.

Watcher — Chazaqiel also Êzêqêêl, was the 8th Watcher of the 20 leaders of the 200 fallen angels that are mentioned in an ancient work called The Book of Enoch. The name means "cloud of God", which is fitting since it was said that Chazaqiel taught men the knowledge of the clouds, meteorology. Also translates as being the "Shooting star of God". This includes weather lore and divination.

Summoning the Wind Meditation

Sit comfortably, taking a moment to ground and centre yourself. Just be with the breath, and the sounds around you. Take a moment to breathe through your chakras opening and cleansing the chakras. Sense a silvery mist rising from the earth, swirling around you, protecting you.

Now visualise that you are standing on top of a majestic mountain, take in as much as the scenery as you can, feel the air around you and take note of how you feel. As you stand on the mountain feel fully grounded and centred

You now stare up at the sky and see the clouds moving quite quickly. You can see how turbulent the winds are as they move the clouds causing them to swirl and change shape.

As you stand there on the mountain you start to think about the current state of the world with the problems of the pandemic and all the turbulence that has taken hold around us.

You hear words forming in your mind to call upon the winds to blow away this turbulence. As you again look to the clouds you see a being standing on the clouds, he is the Watcher Chazaqiel, he is here to help you summon the winds. He tells you to think clearly about your intent, let it crystallise fully in your mind. See the outcome of your desire to bring about change.

It is time to summon the wind, stand face the south and with raised arms call upon the southern winds to greet. As you stand there you start to feel a soft breeze flowing around you. You call upon it to assist you with your desire and as you speak what you want you feel the breeze becoming stronger and stronger. You can also hear Chazaqiel calling to the wind above you and together you are raising a mighty wind that takes each word you say and becomes the power of your words. Visualise the wind blowing away the covid pandemic, blowing it into nothingness, see the wind blowing away all division and human turbulence, blowing it into nothingness. Allow the wind now to take its course.

You stand now in complete harmony with Chazaqiel, you feel his connection, his power. You are united in intent and you become the eye of the storm as the wind rages around you clearing the world of all negativity. Suddenly the power of the wind reduces and returns to a soft breeze. You feel its healing gentleness as it brings calm, peace and harmony around you.

You take a moment to once again take in the spectacular views and you thank Chazaqiel for his help. As you take in deep breath you find yourself back in your seat. You feel reenergised and at peace. When you are ready wriggle your fingers and toes and when you are ready open your eyes.

Spellwork

Weather Magic is real and it begins with the Winds. Winds are the Air element, carrying messages and memories from other lifetimes. Our intent for the Aquarius Full Moon is focused on healing, calling for the end of the pandemic and asking for global peace and harmony. We will also incorporate knot-work in our spell. Ancient knot magic that has been around for centuries. With a length of string, ribbon, cord, or anything that can be knotted, you can quickly make magic work for you. By knot of one, the spell's begun.

I knot the wind

The wind of desire

I knot the wind

The wind that shall inspire

You will do three knots and with each knot feel the power of the wind doing its magic.

Then finish on

I free the wind

The wind of desire

I free the wind

The wind will shall inspire

So mote it be

Keep the string for as long as it takes.

Canberra Circle (“In person” adhering to COVID-19 social distancing rules)

Introduction — This is one of two full moons we will experience in Aquarius as the next one will also fall under Aquarius. This means that the 2 moons will work in harmony with one another. We may find that whatever is stirred for us at this Full moon will be linked to the next Full Moon that comes in August.

Having 2 full moons in Aquarius within a calendar year also puts an emphasis on this sign of the zodiac, Aquarius is an air sign that is represented by the water bearer. The water bearer has the gift of being able to collect water, which signifies the emotions of the world, in its vessel and transmute them using the power of air. The water bearer is then able to pour them back down to the world, bringing a shift of consciousness.

It is this nourishing act that gives Aquarian energy a natural healing quality, and one that we can connect with this full moon. This is especially true because Chariklo, the Asteroid of Spirit Medicine is also active at this time.

Chariklo represents the spiritual side of our healing journey. It allows us to venture into unseen worlds to understand the higher purpose and spiritual growth that can occur when we find ourselves in a healing crisis.

Chariklo is currently in the sign of Aquarius and conjunct this full moon, adding a soothing and healing vibration. If we do find ourselves walking a healing journey of sorts, Chariklo in Aquarius beckons us to think about the spiritual side of our healing.

Chariklo mixed with this moon energy is also supportive of seeking alternative healing methods, particularly those that happen on an energetic level.

While this moon offers support on our spiritual healing journey, there is also some strong transformative energy present due to the location of Pluto.

Pluto is also active this full moon and represents the process of change, or death and rebirth. Full moons tend to bring endings and completion, so we may find the “death” phase of Pluto’s energy more prevalent at this time. You may feel the desire to release something from your life under the moon, or perhaps you may start to receive intuitive whispers about some changes that need to be made. If these changes feel intangible at the time for the full moon, don’t worry, for the next full moon may help you to see things with greater clarity.

Change is in the air under the full moon, and it’s likely that we will be called to shift direction, or perhaps morph and rebirth an area of our life that is no longer working for us.

You can be proactive with this energy by using the Full moon to think about where you would like to see some changes. You don’t have to have all the answers, but keep an open mind and staying curious to new possibilities is a good way to approach this energy.

Aquarian energy is revolutionary and likes to do things differently. It encourages us to step outside the box and to turn things upside down and back to front in order to find a new and better way. Embrace the quality when it comes to your life. See how you can break free from old habits or rigid ideas and practices, and find a new way of seeing or doing things.

Aquarian energy is very much centered around freedom too, so this full moon may inspire us to shift and let go of things that make us feel stuck or trapped in some way.

The Ritual

CLEANSING/BANISHING, OPENING/CLOSING QUARTERS, INVOCATIONS (same as above)

Meditation

Relax and sit back, make sure you are in a comfortable position.

Now close your eyes and take three deep breaths. A mist is rising around you and as you rise and step forth through the mist and it begins to clear.

You are standing in a clearing. The sun is up and it's mid-morning, it's the sort of day that makes you want to find a warm meadow in which you can lie and look at the clouds. The colour of the sky is a rich blue, and tiny white streak of clouds lazily drift by. There are clouds in the distance.

A sparrow darts by, then another. You watch them for a minute, then turn your attention to a path that is leading off into the distance.

Step onto the path and begin walking along the path

As you walk along you notice the breeze begin to pick up, you notice the leaves in the trees around you are rustling, you notice more birds flying around and wonder to yourself what would it be like to let the winds carry you? There are smells swirling around on breeze from the flowers in the grass, dust on the breeze. You feel it playing in your hair as you're walking along. You notice the clouds are moving across the sky.

You feel the winds become stronger and stronger and you becoming lighter with each step, you are beginning off the ground. You are safe and supported by the wind. You feel like a feather on the wind. You begin to spin and float along with the wind. It begins to carry you higher. You continue to spin and dance as you begin to move towards the clouds. You notice leaves and feathers spinning in the winds around. As you get closer to the clouds you notice that there are banners and flags dancing in the wind on clouds.

As you move closer to the clouds there are pinwheels spinning and you notice writing on the flags, banners and pinwheels. You are unable to make it out but can see the forming of words. The wind continues to carry you to the clouds and you find they are taking you to the cloud. You move over it and can feel that it is firm under your feet.

You feel safe and support with the clouds under your feet and notice someone step out of the clouds as they are swirling around. Chazaqiel begins to float towards you. He speaks to you, Now is the time to think on an issue that is not clear to you as yet. One that needs clarity and clearing of the misconceptions around it. While you think on this, take the time to discuss your concerns with Chazaqiel. While you are chatting in the background there is the noise of the flags and banners moving in the wind. I will leave you here for a moment and then call you back when it is time.

Now it's time to return, Thank Chazaqiel for his wisdom. The wind picks up and you begin to float above the clouds. You begin to move down through the clouds. As you're moving you notice the wording on the flags, banners and pinwheels is more formed. You slowly float back to the ground and begin your walk back up the path. As you reach the clearing you notice the mist rolling and swirling in. You step through the mist and return to your body. Begin to wriggle your fingers and toes and when you are ready open your eyes.

Spellwork

Tonight, we will be using weather magic by creating pinwheels, the pinwheel will contain a message you will write on it from your meditation. You will create the pinwheel to blow in the breeze to carry your words on the winds.
